

In our recent collective worship, the nursery children gathered to learn about God's wonderful creation and our role in caring for it. We talked about the beauty of our world, from the shining stars to the blooming flowers, and discussed simple ways we can protect our environment. Additionally, we emphasized the importance of friendship, encouraging the children to be kind and supportive to one another. It was a heartwarming session filled with stories, prayers, and the joyful planting of seeds, reminding us all of the special bond we share with each other and our planet.
